

Interaction Management

Peer Interaction

Online students often interact with other students for learning. Successful online students use the following strategies when interacting with classmates.

1

Participate in the online discussion regularly

- Try your best to add something to the class discussion
  - Is what you are about to post actually bringing up relevant perspectives?
  - Are you moving the discussion forward?
  - Are you adding something?

2

Form a study group if you work better in group

- Identify the interested students, contact them to arrange a meeting time
- At the first meeting, conduct an overview of the course, share each member's interests, and assign individual task
- At each meeting, discuss the content and test each other, identify topics or sections that the group had problems with
- Decide how the group members can obtain additional help, if needed
